Alana's Mazur
(Poland)

The mazur (MAH-zoor) is one of Poland's five national dances, along with the kujawiak, oberek, polonez and krakowiak. Originating as a peasant dance in the Mazury region of central Poland in the 16th century, the mazur was adopted by the nobility of Poland in the 17th century. In the court the dance became more stylized and formal and gradually lost its original peasant character. There are many different steps and figures for the mazur, and this arrangement by Alana Hunter uses only a few of them. She introduced it in 1980 at the Khadra workshop and Stanford spring festival.
