Allemannsmarsj
(Norway)

Allemannsmarsj (AHL-leh-mahns-MARSH) is a simple mixer having many northern European variants. Here in our country we dance "All American Promenade" which is very similar. The title means "Everybody's March." Allemannsmarsj was presented by Alix Cordray at the Stanford Spring Folk Dance Festival in 1981. It is published in Klara Semb's Norske Folkedanser II, Noregs Boklag, Oslo 1956.

RECORD:
Cord-1 (33 E.P.) Side A/1.
Any march (marsj, gongslatt) in 4/4 meter is acceptable if played at the tempo suitable for the dance.

FORMATION:
Circle of cpls facing LOD (CCW), W to R of M. Join inside hands at shldr level. Free hands hang at sides.

STEPS and STYLING:
Walk (1 to a ct): Steps are done with a springy down-up motion (svikt).
"Svikt" is a Norwegian word that describes the down-up movement of the body caused by flexing and stretching the ankles and knees.
Balance (2 to a meas): Step on L to L, flexing the ankle and knee (ct 1); place ball of R ft next to L and rise up onto the balls of both ft (ct 2); lower heels, taking wt on L ft (ct 2); beg R ft to R side, repeat cts 1, & 2 with opp ftwk and direction (cts 3, 4). Balances may begin with R ft to R side.
