TO ALL FOLK DANCERS NEAR AND FAR

WELCOME

Welcome to the Austrian Heritage Festival! How to top (or even equal) last year's invitation to the Irish Heritage Festival? Impossible! So I won't even try. Let us say only this:

The Peninsula Council hopes that each and every one of you will come to the Austrian Heritage Festival, January 28, 29 and 30th, at Cubberly High School in Palo Alto. To entice you, there will be dancing in two rooms with separate programs all three days. These are the same two excellent rooms you remember from last year's Heritage Festival, the magnificent Cubberly Pavilion, with suspended wooden floor and excellent acoustics, and the Gym.

On Friday night, the two warm-up parties will have programs by Christa Valero Werling and Marcel Vinokur, who will also be the M.C.'s.

Saturday will feature an Institute in the afternoon, and early evening Kolo Hour, hosted by Joyce Uggla, and evening programs arranged by Zora Mae Torburn and Joyce Uggla. At midnight begins the after-party with live music by the Westwind Orchestra.

Sunday afternoon will offer, in addition to the dancing in the Pavilion, a program of Old Favorite Dances, in the Gym, hosted by Frank Bacher.

Add to all this the spectacular performing groups which have been invited to put on exhibitions. We hope the sum will be a festival everyone will enjoy.

One request please - to protect the fine Cubberly floors, please wear soft-soled dancing-only shoes if you have them. For those who must wear street shoes or hard heeled boots, we will have tape at the door, and ask you to use it.

Everyone do come! We look forward to seeing you.

Seminole Patchwork -

by Harriet Calsbeek

PIECEWORK FOR CREATIVE PROJECTS

The craft of piecework has been used to decorate many household textiles, as well as on both recent and historic garments, to add both line and color. Pieced designs are a way of handling fabrics, which can be well suited to simple piecework on a jacket or shirt, or complex styles of construction to make a fabric for something unfitted, like a poncho.

Pieced strips of several colors, combined in a sequence can be lovely, but can be even more striking if Seminole patterns are included as some of the stripes, or several used in a block to accent the rest of the item.

For inspiration, you may find ideas in exhibits of all kinds; ethnic garments in museums or at folk group events, artist's designs in unbelieveably expensive handmade clothes, or at such places as a display put on by a Weavers' Guild, Needlework or Fiber Arts Clubs.

USING SEMINOLE PATCHWORK

There are some general points which need to be included when you're planning to use Seminole designs or strip piecing. The basic method should first be practiced on some small items to learn how to estimate the amount of each fabric needed, the way you want to handle it, and the working time it's likely to take.

The Seminole designs can be varied by change of scale, by different widths and numbers of strips, different angles for re-assembling the segments, and the degree of offset between them. In experimenting with these details, you will find that what seems to be an "error" may give you a clue to a very pleasing creation of your own. Don't discard left-overs or misjoined piecework, as these can send your ideas in an unexpected direction. You might discover you are more creative in this machine-pieced decoration than you have been in some other crafts.

Color, of course, is the most personal of the variables, with all the solids, prints, contrasts, blends and textures. Prints, of course, should be viewed from at least 8 or 10 feet away, to see that they do not appear as a blur. That would make your piecework seams lose their effect in your final assembly. (Fig. 1)

RECOMMENDED FABRICS FOR PIECEWORK

When learning skill in this craft, use a very firmly woven fabric, ideally a broadcloth of 100% cotton fiber, or a blend with a nearly equal percentage of cotton with polyester. Avoid one which has more than 65% polyester, since it is nearly impossible to press the seams flat in the various steps of your piecing.

Heavier fabric, such as denim, may be used but its bulk can be a problem where seams cross and fold back. To use this kind of thickness, keep the design to the utmost in simplicity. For the intricate combinations, choose the finer weights and firmly woven types of cloth. Sheers of stretchy weaves or knits can give you multiple difficulties. If you must use some of these less stable weaves, you might improve it by adding lightweight fusible interfacing to back it.

If you plan something more elegant, consider the possibility of firmly woven silks or blends like taffeta or brocade, if they can be pressed back well enough at the seams. Grosgrain ribbon and other trims can be added to your basic fabrics, too. Velveteen or suede cloth can be used for strip piecing, but are less adaptable for the cross-seaming of Seminole work. (Fig. 2)

For places where the piecework will be used with a batting be sure to get the bonded type, which is more stable. To avoid the problem of fibers coming through the surface fabric, look for the batting made of dacron polyester fiber.

CAUTION: All fabrics which will be washed must be prewashed by the same method as will be used later. Add to a laundry load, before working with it in any way, if it's to be given that treatment. If it is to be dry-cleaned, do a pre-clean treatment in advance, too!

TOOLS: If you'll be quilting by hand, use a short needle, a small knot, and pull the knot through the top fabric into the batting. To fasten at the end, do a back-stitch, then pull the thread an inch or two into the batting, then cut off the end so it becomes buried in the batting. If there is any white or pastel part of your design, use those colors for all stitching. Your sewing machine must be adjusted for a balanced tension, to pull evenly from top and bottom so seams are invisible.

Other useful tools are sharp shears which have a long blade to cut straight edges, small sharply pointed scissors, and a seam ripper. Rulers and templates that are made of see-through plastic and are grid-marked are helpful to make right angle lines.

You will need markers for dark and light colors. Any marker must be erasable or washable, so don't use a hard lead pencil or felt pens. Try a medium soft lead pencil or a small piece of hard hand soap.

Trimming, or a completely pieced top layer on suspenders, ties, belts or waist-cinches would be attractive, in addition to added collars, cuffs, or yokes for either ready-made garments or those made for this purpose. Try adding a well-planned band of piecework to make something longer as in skirts or jeans. (Fig. 3)

In addition to the references listed in previous articles, see-
Folkwear Pattern #127, Seminole jacket and skirt with more historical details, plus several Seminole designs.

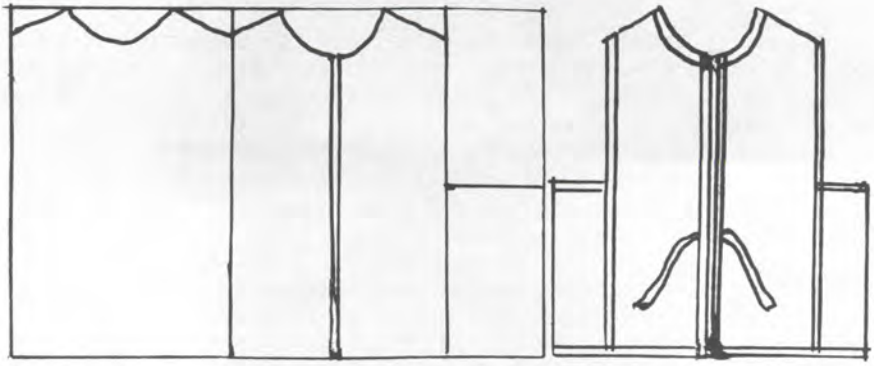

Fig. 1
Garments can be cut from a large unit of piecework, made as a total unit, or made in separate panels. The style with straight lines works well as a pieced garment.

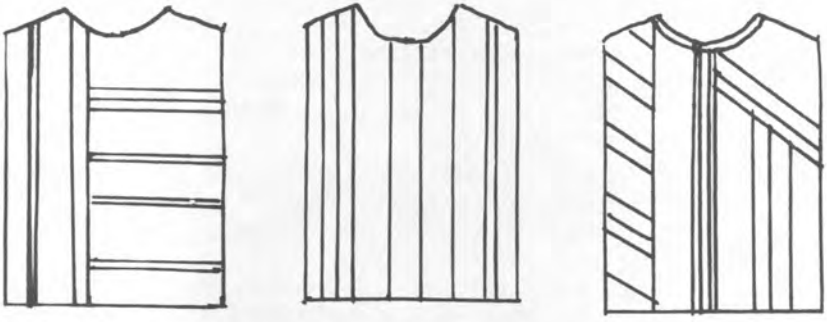

Fig. 2
Experiment with various widths of strips of both pieced designs, and the contrasting or related colors of solids. By changing the location and direction they will run, you can create very different effects.

NEW YEAR RESOLUTIONS

In my church Bulletin I found the following list which I believe can benefit us all. . . .

Do more than exist - Live; Do more than touch - Feel;
Do more than look - Observe; Do more than hear - Listen;
Do more than listen - Understand; Do more than look - Ponder;
Do more than talk - Say Something.

In the Statewide program of April 30, May 1, 2, 1948, I found these quotes which I think merit some pondering by each of us.

"..Here I stand, not only with the sense of present pleasure, but with the pleasing thought that in this moment there is life and food for future years"...Wordsworth.

"Hornpipes, Jigs, Strathspeys and Reels put life and mettle in their heels"...Robert Burns

Let each of us resolve to be an active participating member of the Federation, thus making this an organization which represents the WHOLE of the folk dance movement. Let us be open to new ideas, new attitudes and new approaches to success with a renewed commitment to the purposes for which the Federation was formed.

Then we can all happily join in the words of Byron....
"On with the dance! Let joy be unconfined."

What is Happening in the Folk Dance World Around Us?

by Nancy Linscott

Have you ever wondered if you were missing out on some of the exciting events in the Folk Dance World? Or, perhaps wished that there were real ethnic events to see or participate in right here in the Bay Area? Thinking about the number of folk dancers that I know who have travelled off to Europe, Scandinavia, or the Balkans, in search of the real ethnic experience, only to come home a bit let down or disappointed to find out that they missed some terrific concert or festival right in their own back yard. I decided to see what groups, etc. are available in this area. As the Peninsula Council has the festival this month (January), that seemed like a good place to start.

Do you know what all but a handful of us missed in October in San Jose? The 16th National Tamburitza Extravaganza....with 20 tamburitza orchestras from all over the United States! This three-day festival was sponsored by VESELI SELJACI (Happy Villagers) Tamburitzans of Santa Clara Valley. This 20-member Croatian/Serbian orchestra was organized in 1965 by former Duquesne Tammie, Caroline Puskarich Bahr. Some of you probably heard and danced to their music at the Kolo Festival last month at Stanford. Over the past 17 years they have played kolos and sung Jugoslav songs at Serbian Orthodox Churches, at Croatian picnics and lodge events, and at many of the Bay Area Annual Kolo Festivals. Veseli Seljaci have also performed at the National Extravaganzas in Las Vegas (1976), Chicago (1980), and St. Louis (1981). Caroline was honored by the Tamburitza Association of America at the 1982 Extravaganza when she was accepted into their Hall of Fame for her tireless efforts in spreading Jugoslav culture through music, dance, song and tamburitza. Besides her work with Veseli Seljaci, she has organized and directed two children's Kolo groups, and a junior Tamburitza Orchestra, the Santa Clara Valley Junior Tamburitzans. The Jr. orchestra is now taught by Kathy Sulaver. Caroline's husband, Al Bahr, is also directly involved as the teacher/director of Mladi Plesaci, a Kolo dance exhibition group. This past Labor Day weekend, the combined dancers and musicians performed at Disneyland and Knott's Berry Farm. In 1981, the Junior Orchestra played at the Junior Festival in Denver, Colorado; next year they will be performing at the 1983 Festival in Cleveland, Ohio. For those who might be interested in kolo or tamburitza lessons, or perhaps in one of the three LP recordings made by Veseli Seljaci, contact George Pesut, at 721 Springwood Dr., San Jose, CA 95120, or phone 408/253-1267.

Perhaps the best known group in the area is the Ensemble International. This very polished group, which most of you have seen and admired at many of our regional festivals, is under the direction of Ned and Marian Gault. Under their leadership, the group toured Europe last summer, presenting their "Dances of North America", showing audiences in Salzburg, Vienna, Munich and several places in the South Tirol of Italy, such dances as Cha-cha, Samba, Charleston, Jitterbug, Contras, Square, Big Circle and even some Mexican and French Canadian dances, as well as a few cowboy songs and some banjo playing. Besides their annual trek to dance for most of the Oktoberfests in the Central Valley, and dancing at many of our local festivals, they danced at the 1974 World's Fair in Spokane, Washington and at the Festival of Nations in St. Paul, Minnesota. They have also undertaken several full length concerts in their home city of Sunnyvale. These programs have presented a broad spectrum of International dances in the beautiful costumes from each country. One of the Ensemble members, Eleanor Bacon, has been active in several phases of getting costume material to all folk dancers. For several years she has researched, written up and drawn the costumes that are a major contribution to this magazine and to the Federation Folk Dance Calendar. This year she has started a new phase...Eleanor's Fabric Arts...fabrics just right for different folk dance dress and costumes. For information on costumes, contact Eleanor at 408/379-3545.

One of the other well known exhibition groups in the area is the Scottish demonstration team, the Red Thistle Dancers, under the direction of Jennifer and John Kelly. This group started in 1972, arising, says Jennifer, phoenix-like from the ashes of C. Stewart Smith's demonstration team. Under the Kellys' leadership, the group has remained true to the Scottish dance tradition and worked hard attaining the highest possible level of technical competence. Although the core of the group's repertoire is country dance, the Kellys and several others are accomplished Highland dancers, which enables the group to perform both types of dances and to present a more varied program to their audiences. Aaron Shaw has been their regular piper for the last three years, and the San Francisco Scottish Players frequently provide exhilarating live music for their country dances. The Red Thistle Dancers have performed at the San Francisco Ethnic Dance Festival, as well as at a variety of concerts and events in the Bay Area, and our own folk dance festivals.

Since 1969, Mexican Dance has been well represented in California by Los Lupenos de San Jose, the oldest incorporated Mexican dance group in the U.S. Originally under the direction of Susan Cashion and Ramon Morones, Los Lupenos is now directed by Elena E. Robles. The performers come from diverse backgrounds, with a mixture of nationalities, ages and interests, but are drawn together by their love and respect for Mexican folk culture, especially its dance and artistic aspects. The dancers perform in the beautiful regional costumes, such dances as: Jaran from Yucatan, Huapango from Tamalipas, Polka from Nuevo Leon, Jarocho from Veracruz and La Madrugada from Jalisco. Besides performing in the Bay Area, Los Lupenos have danced in Veracruz and Guadalajara, Mexico, and in New York and at the Seattle World's Fair, as well as at many colleges around the U.S. In addition to their performances, the members run La Esceula de Danza y Cultura in San Jose, seeking to promote Mexican folk dance and culture among as many ages and nationalities as possible. Those wishing to contact the group should write Jaime Guerrero at 721 N. 10th St., San Jose, CA 95112 or call him at 408/292-0443.

One of the oldest, if not the oldest group on the Peninsula, and probably in the Federation, is the Palomanians. In 1940, Lee Owens took a group of couples who had been dancing with the Palo Alto Recreation Department and formed a club. This closed club, whose members were invited to join, was called the Palomanians. When Lee went into the service in 1941, Roy Zellich took over as director and the Palomanians became an exhibition group. One of their first exhibitions was at the Ojai Festival. My own first festival was the Los Gatos Festival in 1948, and I can still remember how impressed I was with the exciting, colorful performance of this group in their beautiful Czech costumes. In 1958, after many of the original members stopped dancing, the group was reorganized and became the club we know today, with Ruth Ruling teaching and Lillian Cohen assisting, and with Sammy Cohen making jokes here and there to liven things up a bit. Dorothy Tamburini, head of the Dance Research committee, is the only current member who was in the original group. The Palomanians are now an informal, open group who do mostly couple dances and about 25% Balkan and other non-partner dances. They meet at the Menlo Park Recreation Center on Tuesdays from 8-10:15 PM. Their first Saturday parties in February, April, June, October and December, are fast-paced, festive affairs attended by dancers from all over the Bay Area.

Have you ever had a Saturday night free and wished that you had something new and different to try? If so, try one of Marcel Vinokur's "2 in 1" parties at the Menlo Park Recreation Center. There, if you don't like the dances in one room, you can move next door and try an entirely different set of dances. Although one room is heavy on Balkan and non-partner dances, the other room has a balanced program of couple and non-partner dances from all countries. Marcel, with the help of his wife Kathryne, have been teaching on the Peninsula for 25 years. His classes hold a special appeal for single and young people, because he concentrates on teaching Balkan-Israeli folk dancing which does not require couples. Through the years he has had a wide cross-section of ages from children, teen-agers and adults attending his classes, completely bridging the generation gap.

At one time referred to as the "Peninsula Pied Piper" because of his devoted following, has stated, "Balkan-Israeli folk dancing on the Peninsula is truly a unique phenomenon in the entire United States. To my knowledge it's more popular here than any where else, perhaps even in the Balkans". For more information about Marcel, classes, or Balkan-Israeli folk dancing call 408/327-0759.

Did you know that there are 22 classes and/or clubs on the Peninsula? There are BALKAN dance classes on Tuesday and Wednesdays in Santa Clara, and on Thursdays in Los Altos, Menlo Park, and Palo Alto, and one in Burlingame on Fridays. If you want to try ENGLISH COUNTRY DANCE OR CONTRAS, there are classes Wednesday, Fridays, and Saturdays in San Jose, Palo Alto, and Stanford. If you are looking for ISRAELI, you can dance on Sundays at Stanford, Mondays at San Mateo, and Thursdays in Palo Alto. There is SCANDINAVIAN at Stanford's Becthel Center on Fridays and SQUARE &/OR INTERNATIONAL almost every night of the week somewhere. For more complete information, check the Church of the Planina Folk Dance Directory, one of the most up to date and helpful guides around. If your group does not have a copy (or if you want one yourself), send Jim Emdy $1.50 to 1256 College Ave., Palo Alto, CA 94306.

Although we would like to list and talk about all the classes, teachers and events down the peninsula, space does not permit...(and it might get to be pretty dull reading!) so I have chosen those that stand out as a bit unusual, and hopefully, of some interest to the general folk dancers. If you have found any of this useful or interesting, please let editor, June Horn know. If YOU have some interesting ethnic or dance activities in your area, let me or June know...then IF we have enough interest and information we might tackle a similar article for your council area!!

Sweetheart Festival

COME TO OUR SWEETHEART BALL

Sunday, February 6th at the Napa Town & Country Fairgrounds, 575 Third Street in Napa. Come and help us celebrate our 12th Annual Sweetheart Festival, as we want it to be the best ever.

Favorite folk dances, square dance callers, exhibitions in beautiful costumes, all make up a program that is special to bring your favorite sweetheart to, to enjoy with all your folk dance friends. Dancing from 1:30 to 5:30; Exhibitions at 3:00.

The famous coffee bar will be open from 11:00 AM to serve homemade sandwiches, cake, coffee and cold drinks all afternoon. This project helps the Napa Women's Folk Dancers with their Club expenses and costumes.

Come early, take a ride through our wine country which is truly a spring spectacle. Complete your day by dancing with us for the afternoon, and your evening by dining at one of our many restaurants; some are listed in Let's Dance.

The Napa Valley Folk Dancers have classes every Tuesday night at the Kennedy multi-purpose building.

The Women's Napa Valley Folk Dancers have classes every Tuesday and Wednesday morning at 9:00 AM at 1800 Jefferson St. The above classes are sponsored by the Napa Recreation Commission of Napa.

Sonoma Valley Folk Dancers have classes at Schaal Hall every Thursday night from 7:00 to 10:00 PM.

(Scotland)

This 32 bar jig was devised by Anna Holden of the Royal Scottish Country Dance Society. It was published in a collection by the Birmingham (England) Branch in celebration of the Society's 1973 jubilee. Joseph Wallin presented it at the 1982 University of the Pacific Folk Dance Camp.

RECORD: Tacsound TAC-002 (33) Side B/5 6/8 meter

FORMATION: Four couples in a square. Dancers in head pos either face, or have their backs to the head of the hall.

STEPS: Bow and Curtsey*, Pas de Basque*, Set*, Skip Change of Step*, Slip Step*, Polite Turn*.

Skip Change of Step is used throughout unless otherwise noted.

STYLING: The body is held erect but not stiff, with chest high and arms hanging naturally at sides. W may hold skirt with thumb and first two fingers. All dancing is on the balls of the feet with knees turned out. Partners communicate by tension in the arms and by looking at one another. During turns, hands are at shldr level in handshake hold. When inactive, stand in place with heels together, knees and toes turned out. Keep the set compact for comfortabe dancing.

"RUSSIAN DANCE ENSEMBLE OF SAN FRANCISCO"

The "Russian Folk Dance Group of San Francisco" was created in 1963 by Vladimir Perfiloff, for the express purpose of introducing and preserving Russian Folk Dance in America. The ensemble consisted of young Americans of Russian descent. Approximately 20 years ago a number of foreign folk dance companies, including the Soviet Union's Moiseyev troup, toured the United States creating a surge of interest in Russian, Ukrainian and other ethnic dances. Many young Americans eagerly joined the Russian Dance Ensemble of San Francisco upon its creation.

Today half of the dancers in the group are non-Russian Americans, who through hard work and determination have become outstanding performers of Russian Folk Dance.

The Ensemble has participated in a number of Folk Dance Festivals in the San Francisco Bay Area, and on several T.V. shows, including Jerry Lewis's 1978 Telethon. In conjunction with Nikolay Masenkoff's "Russian Festival", the troop has also performed throughout the United States, notably New York City's "Carnegie Hall", Canada, Hawäii, Bahamas and the Virgin Islands.

Mr. Perfiloff's goal has always been to establish a full concert company within the United States with a repertoire as exciting as that of any of the professional troups from behind the Iron Curtain.

In 1968, this goal was realized by Mr. Perfiloff with the creation of two repertoires which were presented to the Bay Area public in a number of performances. The first work for the "Small Group" of 8 dancers and the second for the entire ensemble of 24 dancers.

Mr. Perfiloff is presently at work on the task of widening the repertoire of his Company and upon attracting other talented dancers into its ranks.

Mr. Perfiloff will conduct the Russian Dance Workshop at San Leandro High School Gym, 2200 Bancroft Ave., San Leandro on Saturday, January 22, 1983.

FOLK DANCE NEWS

"I" HOUSE

Pat and Hugo Pressnall will teach dancing for beginners at International House at the University of California, Berkeley (at the top of Bancroft Avenue). The class will be held from 8:00 to 10:00 PM on Tuesdays, beginning Tuesday, January 11th. A request program for all levels of dancing will follow. Dancing, as in the past, will be held in the ballroom, newly refurbished.

The Pressnalls' were recommended by Walter Grothe, who so ably taught dancing at "I" House for more than thirty years.

While graduate students at the University, Pat and Hugo, looking for a recreation that would be fun, inexpensive and that they could do together, decided to try folk dancing.

Since those early days, they have taken numerous dance workshops and training sessions at the University of the Pacific, Mendocino Folklore Camp, U.C. Berkeley, San Francisco State, and Stanford. They also studied dance in Poland and Mexico.

For the past number of years, they have been teaching at Berkeley Folk Dancers and dancing with Kopachka Dancers of Mill Valley. They also teach dancing at workshop sessions organized for children, teen-agers and adults.

The classes at "I" House will include couple dancing, non-partner dancing and mixers. Emphasis will be on international dances including dances from the U.S.A.

For more information, please call Pat and Hugo at - - -

COUNCIL CLIPS

PENINSULA FOLK DANCE COUNCIL

At the San Francisco Star Ballet Competition, The Terpsichore, one of America's leading ballroom dance societies, presented Josetta (Jo) Buttitta a plaque for her services to dance. The ball was held at the San Franciscan Hotel in San Francisco on October 23rd, and was attended by some 400 dancers who came from as far away as Salt Lake City and Phoenix, Arizona to compete. Josetta was one of the judges. Jo has been an enthusiastic teacher and participant in many forms of dancing on the Peninsula and has contributed much in the area of Folk, Ballroom, Latin - in fact all forms of dancing, for many years, and richly deserves the recognition she received.

Plans for the Austrian Heritage Festival the last weekend in January are zipping along and a gala time is expected. Cubberly School in Palo Alto is again the location, which proved very successful for last year's festival. Two halls will be in use, with Balkan and line dances in the Boy's Gym at the same time as regular folk and squares in the main auditorium on Saturday night. We hope to have two new Austrian dances as well as the Scottish dance "Triumph" on the program. Sunday afternoon will feature a program of old favorites. A number of fantastic exhibition groups have been invited, and we are expecially elated to have the Westwind Orchestra of the East Bay to play for the after-party. This is held in the pavilion on Saturday night, from midnight until the last dancer drops in the wee small hours on Sunday. There will, of course, be food available at all times during the festival. Come one, come all!

SACRAMENTO COUNCIL OF FOLK DANCE CLUBS

We are busy in Sacramento planning the spring activities. First is the very popular Beginners' Festival to be held January 29. For information about this event, call Jack Hedgecock at 916/421-5245.

Then there is the Camellia Festival planning, already well under way to make this year's the best ever!

Meanwhile, we are enjoying our Annual New Year's Party and a special workshop by Peche.

GREATER EAST BAY FOLK DANCE COUNCIL

Berkeley Folk Dancers will install their new officers at the "I" Ball on January 8, 1983.

The Pantalooners and Seminary Swingers have merged. They will meet on Friday nights. Their "Winter Frolic" will take place on Saturday, February 19th at 8:00 PM at the Redwood Heights School. An enjoyable, danceable for all program, is promised.

The von Konsky Dancers were invited to perform at Harrah's in Reno. They did Bavarian-Austrian folk dances. They, with the members of Dancers Internationale will dance for the Shrine Football game half-time in Palo Alto on Saturday January 15th doing a wreath dance, Maypole dance and some figure dances. They will encourage the audience to stand up and do The Bird Dance. There will be a 150 piece German band, complete with yodelers and the Alpenhorn. Included will be a German choral group. The game will be shown on NBC-TV.

Millie and Vern are planning to do some shipboard recreation, so are giving up the Feather River Camp. However, they are going to hold a Feather River Camp Reunion Party on February 5th at the Sailboat House on Lake Merritt. At that time they will introduce the teachers who will take their place at the Feather River Camp.

The GEBFDC will hold their 5th Saturday Party in January at Piedmont School. The Walnut Whirlers are the hosts. The clubs are expected to bring refreshments as usual.

IN MEMORIUM

We are sorry to report that Ralph Miller passed away on Thanksgiving Day. Ralph had been a very active member of the Folk Dance Federation of California, South for a great many years. He was a past president, teacher, person responsible for setting up the sound system for festivals, statewides, etc.; the originator of the Beginners' Festival in the south; helped set-up teacher training programs; circulation manager for Folk Dance Scene, and official photographer for the last three or four Statewides held in the south. He will be missed by his many folk dance friends. We send our sympathy to his beloved wife Elsa and his family.

LAGUNA FOLKDANCERS

Be sure to keep February 12-14 open so you can attend our Laguna Dance Festival. Our outstanding teachers this year will be Steve Kotansky teaching Bulgarian, Romanian and Greek dances and Anthony Ivancich who will teach Basque and Canary Island dances.
